Career Seekers:

Registered Apprenticeship/Internship programs are formalized, structured training programs that combine on-the-job learning and related technical instruction in which paid employees receive practical and technical training in highly skilled occupations.
The attached listing reflects the more active apprenticeship programs in the metropolitan St. Louis area.
Our office works continuously to grow the number and types of apprenticeship programs in varied occupations. Please frequent our web site below or contact the individual office to find out if any new programs have been developed.

The listing provides telephone numbers for program sponsors that you will need to contact directly to make application. The program you contact will be able to answer questions such as:

- Are there any openings? How and where do I apply for the program?
- Is there a waiting list? Are there any special requirements or qualifications for the position?

We hope this information will assist in your career making decision.
